and record the presence of a quorum, whether voting or not.

Practically all the Democratic members of the house attended the caucus.

Mr. Bland presented a resolution directing the sergeant-at-arms to carry out the provision of section 40, chapter 2 of the revised statutes, which provides that deductions from the salaries of members should be made for every day's absence, except on account of sickness. This was in accordance with the action of the judiciary committee earlier in the day. It was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Springer brought forward the rule which he introduced some time ago, framed on the lines of the old rule drawn some twelve years ago by J. Randolph Tucker of Virginia, which provided that members who declined to vote when their names were called should be brought to the bar of the house, and after being given an opportunity to vote upon the pending proposition, in case of refusal, should be recorded as "present, but not voting."

Mr. Pendleton of West Virginia offered a resolution directing the committee on rules to formulate and present a rule to ascertain and record the presence of a quorum whether voting or not.

Mr. Outhwaite suggested a different

Speaker Crisp made a vigorous speech, Speaker Crisp made a vigorous speech, pointing out the deplorable position in which the house found itself on account of continued and persistent absentceism. Quite a number of speeches were made in opposition to any and all rules looking to the counting of members who refused to vote. Bryan of Nebraska was among those who led the opposition.

Mr. George gave notice that on Tuesday next Mr. McLaurin would address the senate on the tariff bill. The urgency deficiency bill was taken up and discussed until 1 o'clock, when it was displaced by the tariff bill, and Mr. Peffer resumed his speech. At its conclusion, Senator Mitcheil of Oregon was recognized, and in the beginning of his speech described the events and policies which produced the Republican party, and on which that party still stood.

When he concluded his speech, a few minutes after 5 o'clock, Senator Chandler.

WASHINGTON, April 13.-The struggle over the adoption of a new rule to secure a voting quorum was resumed when the house met today. The Republicans made a preliminary stand against the approval of the journal. Mr. Dockery moved its approval and the Republicans sat silent in their seats. Upon the aunonucement of the vote, 105 to 0, Mr. Boutelle made the roots of no quorum and the roll was

A BAD BARGAIN.

WASHINGTON, April 13 -A movement has been inaugurated to release the United States from the entangling alliance, as it was described by President Cleveland, into which it had drifted as a result of the troubles in Samoa, culminating in the treaty of Berlin in 1889, by which the United States, Germany and Great Britain undertook a joint protectorate over the Samoan group. The arrangement has never worked well and each of the parties to the treaty of Berlin have shown dissarisfaction with its workings. The resolution introduced in the senate a few days ago by Senator Gray, calling for the correspondence relative to Samos,
was the initial step taken towards a release from the tripartite agreement.
Further than this a resolution has been introduced in executive session bearing on the same subject and looking to withdrawal from the agreement. Such withdrawal or at least some material modification of the treaty toward that end, may be easily effected, for Article VIII provides that upon the request of either power, after three years from the signing of the cratic caucus this afternoon decided by a Official Figures Showing the Amount of Gold Produced Last Year.

WASHINGTON, April 13.-Director of the mint bureau has completed his final figares on the gold production of the United States during the year 1893. The total production is given as of the value of $35 950,000, which is an increase for the year of 73,445 ounces, representing $1,518,423. The following table shows the production in fine ounces for the calendar year 1893 by states, what increase or decrease as compared with the year 1892.

Alaska 48,863 decrease 3403.

Arizona 57,256, increase 321.

California 584,370, decrease 23,796.

North Carolina 2,523, decrease 1,200.
Oregon 79,543, increase 7,378.
South Carolina 5,528, increase 30.
South Dakota 193,761, increase 3,041.
Utah 41,226, increase 9,357.
Washington 10,744, decrease 7,737.
All other states 725.
The value of the gold in any case may be found by multiplying the number of ounces by 20,67. These figures are about $1,000,000 less than the aggregate values reported by the agents of the bureau, for the reason that it has been unable to trace the full amount reported to the refineries and mints. The director states his estimates are certainly not in excess of the actual production.

Senator Quay also inquired whether he wisbed to suggest the aloption of "Reed rules."

"I do not think that Mr. Reed has any monopoly on such a simple rule as this, and which may be applied in any parlamentary body," replied Mr. Hill.

"Does not the senator from New York claim the prior right of discovery?" Inquired Mr. Chandler. [Laughter.] The vice president was about to rule it a question as to whether or not a quorum had been shown to be present by the last vote, but recognized Mr. Hill, who, as soon as he had obtained the floor, yielded it to colonel Cockreil, who moved that as it was too late to do any business. Judge Scott's Ignoble Persecution Drives the Biggest Man in Oklahoma to a Probably Successful Attempt at Suicide - The Merciless Court Demands an Abject Apology and McMaster > Takes a Death Draught.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 18 .- [Special]-The last act in the drama, the court vs. Frank McMaster, has been played. The public now know the character of the play. One word expresses it—tragedy! Frank McMaster, a man who, moved by the courage of his convictions, shouldere his musket and battled for that he deeme right, and who, when the clive branch of pence signified that war was no more, readily adjusted himself to the new order, peace signified that war was no more, readily adjusted himself to the new order, is now on the verge of the grave. Frank McMaster, the veteran editor of Oklahoma, whose trenchant and caustic pen made evildoers tremble; a man of indomitable will, lies broken in spirit and auxious to go to the great beyond. As a soldier he has the admiration of all who fought, whether they wear the blue or the gray. The circumstances are as follows:

Almost the closing chapter in the persecution of Editor Frank McMaster has been reached. This afternoon the eminent jurist, politician and editor sought relief from the degradation of a full retraction of all he has said or written of Judge Henry Scott, and his alleged remissnesses, in death by poison. He signed the agreement dignified by the name of apology under force, after swallowing a quarterounce of arsenic.

He is not dead, and at this hour—2:30 a. m.—his condition is much improved.

His friends, however, fear for the worst, for his naturally proud, free spirit is broken and shackled by the confession and retraction wrung from him by one who has nothing but the stern, iron hand of the law to recommend him or give him a place among men. With McMaster it was a question of death stern, iron hand of the law to recommend him or give him a pince among men. With McMaster it was a question of death in bondage or disgrace in freedom. He knew, and the judge knew, that the old man could never serve a sentence of six mouths in jail. The noted editor had been shattered physically, and possibly mentally, by the tremendous strain of the past few days.

At the appointed time the city hall was filled with people to witness the relinquishment of authority on the part of the Democratic city officials.

Twelve o'clock came but no mayor or clerk. A few moments before 1 o'clock Mayor Brogan and Clerk Wharton entered the hall and after much delay six of the old councilt were found. Instead of proceeding to sign the certificates of election, as had been publicly announced, flibutering commenced and the Republicans became again snapicious. These tactics were industred in by the Democratic members until the Republicans became desperate and a demand was publicly made of the council by Mayor-Elect Stone that certificates of election be issued.

lawyer, rushed to the hail and fairly climbed over the multitude, who were insisting upon the mayor and clerk doing their duty under the law.

In the meantime the Republican officerselect, with their friends, gathered around the mayor and reminded him of his solemn promise to do what the law had long before made obligatory upon him and the clerk. Men shouted and cursed; the council tables were covered with excited men: the Democratic sheriff and the Democratic policemen were powerless. The writ, though void on its face, was finally read, and when the smoke of battle cleared away it was found the mayor had signed Mayor-Elect Stone's certificate, but no others.

At this writing it has developed that though the action was brought by Mr. Stear, the defeated candidate for mayor, as one of the parties in interest, he had no knowledge of the matter and repudiates the whole proceeding, as have many of the leading Democrata.

Much excitement prevails. Party feeling is running high, and it is predicted by many that unless these methods are not soon stopped trouble of a serious nature will follow. The Republicans will not be robbed by Democratic buildozers.
